Modular protection, exactly where it is needed: the SunBreak is simply inserted into the awning rail, the zipper opened and the panel can be extended continuously. Thanks to fine, breathable mesh, this creates exactly the amount of privacy or sun protection you want. Thanks to the clever design, the SunBreak panel can be quickly and easily adjusted when, for example, the position of the sun changes. With the included guy ropes, the SunBreak can be tensioned to prevent it from flapping in light winds. The easy-to-use hanging system allows the panel to glide smoothly into any desired position.

Please note: to avoid damage, store the SunBreak in the bag during strong winds. If more sun protection is desired, additional SunBreak panels can be joined side by side in the awning rail using magnetic closures.
